TENREHTE TECHNOLOGIES NAMED AS FINALIST OF THE CODE_n13 CONTEST

50 green start-up companies from around the world selected as finalists of the CODE_n13 Contest will be showcased at the CeBIT 2013 trade show in Hanover, Germany.

ROCHESTER, NY USA – December 18, 2012 – Tenrehte Technologies, Inc., a leading producer of wireless energy efficiency products, is pleased to announce that our company was selected as one of the top 50 most promising green technology (“greentech”) companies in the world.

50 young companies from around the world were selected today as the finalists of the CODE_n13 Contest, and each company will be presenting their ideas at the CeBIT 2013 trade show in Hanover, Germany. The CODE_n13 Contest finalist companies will have their own 4,000-square-meter hall, specially designed by French artist Vincent Tavenne, to showcase their innovative energy transition solutions.

The chosen 50 include startups from thirteen different nations. A total of 250 companies from 35 countries had submitted entries.

“What an amazing honor it is for our company to be selected as one of the 50 finalists in the CODE_n13 Contest,” said Mark Indovina, COO of Tenrehte. “This is an excellent, independent validation by leading international experts of our company, business model, technology, and ultimately our flagship product PICOWatt®, which is the worlds leading energy control device for a green tomorrow.”
